Directions to Trailhead

In the village of Carrick, situated on the R263 between Killybegs and Glencolmcille, take the Teelin Road signposted 'The cliffs - Slieve League'. Follow the road along the bay for ca.2.3km. Turn right on to a narrow road, following the sign for 'Pilgrim Path Walking Route'. After approx 600m turn right over a small bridge, and immediately left again. Drive through the gate, closing the gate behind you, and continue another 550m until you reach the car park and trailhead.

Please note that this walk leads up to steep, open cliffs - be very mindful of your safety and that of others.

The trail takes its name from the traditional Pilgrim Path to the ruins of Aodh Mac Bríche's Church. Mac Bríche was bishop of Killare (Co Westmeath) in the 6th century A.D. and spent his last years as a hermit on Slieve League. The ruins are located on the leeward side of the ridge. There are 3 'Holy Wells' near the church, a cross-inscribed pillar stone, and a number of cairns (penitential stations) strung along both edges of the ridge. Aodh Mac Bríche's pilgrimage is traditionally associated with his feast day on 10th November and includes 45 decades of the rosary. 15 are prayed while walking up, a further 15 while walking around the church itself and a final 15 while walking around the cairns on the summit of the mountain, behind the Church. It is believed that any pilgrim who completes it will cured of headaches or related illnesses.

Walk Direction

A-B. Leaving the car park, go straight ahead following the blue arrow along the green road into the horseshoe-shaped valley. Passing Croleavy Lough on your left, you reach an emergency lay-bye on your right.

B-C. Starting to climb, after about 750m you reach the waterfall and viewing area with great views over Teelin bay and harbour, as well as Donegal bay.

Here the Broad trail ends.

C-D. Follow the narrow, rough trail for about 900m, past 3 tall timber markers that guide you to a large bolder, where you turn left. After another 100m you reach the church ruins. Walking a short distance beyond the church ruin brings you onto the exposed cliffs of Slieve League with spectacular views over all of Donegal Bay.

This area needs to be approached with extreme caution!
Take note of the yellow markings on rocks that will guide you off the plateau and on to the path.

Pilgrims Path Sliabh Liag

4km
Moderate
Green road, rough path, open cliff

- A - Car Park & Trailhead
- B - Emergency Lay-by
- C - Waterfall & End of Road
- D - End of Access Route

The first 2km as far as point C is for use by occasional walkers. Beyond that you are on rough ground and open cliffs. Ensure you have appropriate footwear, clothing, map and compass & know how to use them, since the weather can deteriorate very quickly in this area. Watch out for distinct yellow markings on rocks and boulders to guide you back from the plateau onto the path.
